

North Stainley CE Primary School Reading Challenge

We love reading at North Stainley CE Primary School and our aim is to try to engage every child in school in reading and help them discover their 'reading passion.'

Reading is the key to learning and as such is central to everything we do at school.

In order to help all our children, discover books that they love and to help them find a bank of books and authors that they would choose to read, we are setting up a Reading Challenge.

Every year group has been presented with a box of brand new books bought from The Little Ripon Bookshop. Gill, who owns the shop came in this morning to deliver them in an assembly.

We are challenging the children to read the books and review them, recommending them or not to other children. The list is not exhaustive and if you or your child think we have missed a wonderful book off our list, please let us know. We have tried to provide a range of challenge in our book lists, so there is something for everyone.

The book lists and review sheets are on the website and we will be sending them home as well.

The children can take the books home to read and will also have time to read in class. Please ask your child about the reading challenge and what books they are reading.

Our younger children are not expected to read the books, but enjoy sharing them, looking at the words and pictures and talking about them. Our older children can read independently, but may also enjoy sharing some or all of their reading with you.

Many children will have read some of the books and as such can write a review.

Remember, the most important thing is that your child enjoys reading, so have fun, delight in some laughs and discover some new information. Happy reading!

We hope you enjoy sharing some of the beautiful books with your children.
