

PIRATES!

Ahoy mi' Harties! Here is your weekly ideas from the bottle to inspire you through some of the continuous provision areas we would have at school! You may select anything you wish to do and feel free to upload anything to share! I am making a 'pirate display' in school and will add any pictures you send in! That way you can see all your collaborative work at upon returning to school!

Area Focus: Expressive Arts and Design

Learn a new song! Pirates live on ships out at sea! We will have a focus week on sea animals/ animals in the up coming weeks, so to get you started here is Jack Hartmann (your favourite again!) singing about five little fishes! This is a maths link too! What other sea creatures could we change the song to? Can you recreate and sing your own version?

Five Little Fishes:

Area Focus: Expressive Arts and Design

Can you make a junk model pirate ship? You can use lots of recycling materials to make the boat- a box for the ship, a tube for the masts, paper towels for the sails, milk top lid for the steering wheel, lolly pop stick for the plank... etc!

Then, can use this ship in your own 'small world' area to act out some pretend play stories? What chaos will happen aboard your ship.. remember to name it! Google provides lots of ideas and images of pirates ships to inspire your making and creating! Painting it can finish off the ship and make it look super real too!
