

It was a bright sunny day when two dozen American soldiers of the 10th Mountain Division came under attack during a mission in war-torn Afghanistan. The men were travelling in a convoy of Humvees, a type of off-road military vehicle with hardened steel armour plating and bullet-proof glass. This offers good protection against ordinary gunfire, but when one of

CHANNING MOSS A bomb inside a soldier's body (Afghanistan, 2006)

