

took Channing on to the helicopter and the RPG exploded it would kill even immediately that the problem was far more serious than he'd been told. If he Eventually the helicopter was able to land, but the pilot realised Channing conscious and alive.

fighting was going on and so for fifteen minutes he concentrated on keeping Black Hawk helicopter wouldn't be able to land near the Humvee while the live explosives on to helicopters. Doc knew that the specially equipped unexploded bomb inside him because the army has rules about not taking nothing about one of them having an

He used more bandages to strap the missile in place to prevent it moving around

The message to headquarters had just said there were wounded soldiers who needed rescuing. It said with you,'

I can,' he told Channing. 'You keep fighting with me and I'll keep fighting the missile in place to prevent it moving around. 'I'm going do everything the RPG out would be far too dangerous so he used more bandages to strap he knew he had to stop Channing's bleeding as quickly as possible. Pulling sure he was still alive. Next he got some bandages out of the first aid kit as evacuation helicopter out to them, Doc squeezed Channing's hand to make While one of the other soldiers radioed headquarters to get a medical could worsen the soldier's injuries.

injuries or to change position suddenly. If he moved even slightly, the RPG to stop looking down. He didn't want his colleague to panic at the sight of his medic. Doc realised immediately what had happened and ordered Channing The other soldiers called Jared 'Doc' because he was the convoy's